General internal medicine consults with a focus on hematological disorders such as blood cell abnormalities, thrombosis (venous and arterial), monoclonal gammopathy, and lymphadenopathy.

Given the high demand of inpatient and outpatient internal medicine services we are unable to see patients for issues such as chronic pain/fibromyalgia, chronic fatigue, non-inflammatory arthritis, routine hypertension or diabetes. Physicians at NBRHC who require complex GIM consultation may contact Dr. Patel directly via Vocera to discuss cases prior to sending a referral.

Thank you for your understanding.
